

Meet Susan & Her Daughter, Katy

Moving from trauma to recovery, stability, and hope

When Susan came to CHRIS 180 three years ago, she was struggling with addiction and trauma. She had lost custody of her daughter, Katy.

After three years of hard work, with the help of CHRIS 180 and friends like you who care, Susan's family is on a path toward healing.

We are so grateful to you and our community of supporters who are helping parents like Susan, a trauma survivor, change directions and change their lives.

When you make a gift to support CHRIS 180's work, we are fortunate to see the impact each and every day.

Together, we will help parents, caregivers and children create the brighter futures they dream of.
